

Judge's seat vote not likely on June ballot

Livermore attorney Mark Eaton will be sworn to the Livermore - Pleasanton Municipal Court bench Feb. 20 and is likely to remain there unchallenged for at least the next two years.

Alameda County Registrar of Voters James Riggs told The Times yesterday that an opinion by the county counsel holds that Riggs must not call an election for the judgeship seat vacated by Judge William Gale of Pleasanton.

The law is clear that if the governor appoints a new judge within 10 months prior to an election, the judge shall not face election for at least two years after his appointment.

The other judge on the Livermore - Pleasanton Municipal bench, Judge Al Lewis, has finished the sixth year of the term begun by retired Judge Joe Schenone. He doubts anyone will challenge him, but he has filed intention of candidacy papers just in case. Eaton also took out intention of candidacy papers yesterday. Deadline for picking up intention of candidacy papers is Feb. 11. Persons who fail to file intention papers may not file for the office, whose formal filing period begins Feb. 17.

Eaton told The Times last week after receiving news of his appointment that he is willing to stand for election for his seat. But the decision is out of his hands, Riggs told The Times yesterday. The registrar must follow the law and the law is clear, according to a spokesperson in the county counsel's office.

If the filing procedure had opened before Brown appointed Eaton and someone actually filed, then it's possible there would have to be an election, said the county counsel. The only thing resembling an opening of the procedure occurred a week ago when three valley attorneys took out papers which enabled them to gain signatures of voters in lieu of paying the filing fee.

Even if this could have been construed as opening the election process before the appointment, it's a moot question now. None of the three attorneys — Burke Critchfield, Earl Odell, and David Harris — returned those papers before 5 p.m. Friday, the last moment before Governor Brown announced Eaton's appointment.

Harris indicated to The Times Saturday that he is satisfied with Eaton's appointment and would not want to oppose him. Odell said yesterday that he thinks Eaton will be a good judge and he doesn't think anyone would challenge him even if it were possible. Critchfield, who is Eaton's law partner, was unavailable for comment.

The state legislature has been trying to diminish the edge which incumbents traditionally have enjoyed on ballots in the legislative branch of government. For example, incumbents once were entitled to the top spot on the ballot, but the legislature changed it so that a draw of the alphabet every three months determines the ballot order for elected candidates in the legislative branch of government.

In light of this reform, why is a judge given a "free ride" for two years, The Times asked the county counsel's office.

The statute governing the question has been on the books since 1949 and was implemented by an initiative in 1950, said the spokesperson. "The law has been around a long time; there really has not been any thinking on it," he said. The law originated when the primary elections were held in August, not June, and the 10-month span was thought to be a protection against a severely curtailed time for campaigning, said the attorney.

One view is that the incumbents had no time to mount a campaign, another view is that people don't get enough time to know the incumbent, he said.

Reporter's lifesaver Millie Wing

If there's a prototype of the dedicated and dependable school district administrative secretary, Millie Wing would certainly fit that description in the Amador/Pleasanton school district.

Millie began her 21st year of service with the valley districts this week, the two decades spanning the "country school" and rapid growth eras of Amador and Pleasanton schools.

She is the person the news media immediately contacts whether it's a question on an upcoming school event or a missing item from a past school committee meeting.

Through her long association with local schools covering a gamut of assignments, Millie is able to place events and occurrences in perspective.

Though she's had the opportunity to work elsewhere, Millie soon became attached to not only her school district job but the special allure of the Pleasanton area. Currently assigned as administrative assistant, with particular responsibility as liaison between the district and valley newspapers, Millie is ever alert to both the major happening and the "little feature possibility."

In a word, she can be a lifesaver! All valley newspaper people will attest to that.

Tall, bespectacled and possessed of an inner calmness, she has served four superintendents after coming to Pleasanton after a stint in the district office for Danville schools.

After a two-year layoff from the work-a-day world, Millie contacted Don Eddy, then superintendent of the school district in Pleasanton, and started to work on Feb. 1, 1956, at the old administrative offices located at then-tiny Amador Valley High School.

Millie recalls that "as you walked into the old Amador administration building, I was located in the attendance office on the left along with then-teaching vice principal Neil Sweeney. The Pleasanton headquarters were where the district media center (at Pleasanton Middle School) is now."

A near lifelong resident of Danville, Millie lives with and cares for her mother.

After her initial assignment in the attendance office at Amador, where she soon undertook a host of duties ranging from payroll to locating a school custodian, Millie "moved" to the Pleasanton offices.

In the middle 60s, the functions of both districts — which amounted to just Amador and Pleasanton initially — were combined and Millie's responsibilities multiplied again. Shortly after the move to Pleasanton, Winifred Barrett, secretary at the high school, resigned and Millie's job took on still another dimension.

Next move for district offices was to the "little white cottages" formerly in front of Amador. By then she had a full-time clerk to assist her and the school population was beginning its tremendous growth cycle.

But the earlier days are not forgotten.

She recalls pacing off distances with former superintendent Ray Haskell prior to building of the Amador Valley High Library. "We really thought it would be a gigantic library at that time but now a much bigger one is needed."

"Things were informal in those days," Millie continues. "We'd just walk out and call for Danny Pons or whoever was needed to accomplish a task."

The district utilized the cottages about six or seven years and also expanded administratively with William Schreck and Bill Borg taking assistant superintendent positions. Borg preceeded Doug Rose in the business position.

By the time district functions were moved to "the old home on Main Street," Millie had become exclusively superintendent's secretary — working up school board agendas, checking credentials, keeping track of records and state and federal grant applications.

Millie was also chief accountant until Charles Barnett came to the district.

One suspects that if Millie were asked to accomplish any task at a district school on a moment's notice she would take it in stride and complete it with great efficiency.

Her vistas, however, are most certainly not in the past, though.

Conscious of the ever-expanding role of women in all facets of school district operations, Millie looks with pride at her current assignment (administrative assistant with emphasis on public relations) and is taking a course in photography at Dublin High School. Combined with journalism classes she has taken, she hopes to better prepare herself for writing and photo duties featuring district schools and personnel.

"And when I retire in about five years from now I'm not going to sit still. I've worked too long for that and, besides, I like to be with people."

Amador trustees told of new budget needs

PLEASANTON — The Amador Valley Joint High School District will have to generate $480,000 in 1976-77 in order to meet maintenance, construction and salary costs, according to Doug Rose, assistant superintendent for business.

Amador trustees retax revenue data Tuesday night in working over the proposed statement to appear on the June 8 ballot.

The measure calls for an increase in the revenue limits (per average daily attendance) in the amount of $91.21 in 76-77, $182.41 for 77-78 and $273.61 commencing in 78-79.

According to figures developed by Rose, in consort with the county, the tax rate — given a majority "yes" vote June 8 — would increase 24.82 cents per $100 assessed valuation the first year, 44.7 cents the second and 62.68 commencing with the third year.

The Amador district, which has four schools, including one (Foothill) that will gain its first senior class in September, has run afoul of the inflationary cycle like hundreds of other districts throughout the west.

Additionally, and considered the basis, for this tax election, the district has severe maintenance problems — $35,000 — (heating and air conditioning) a necessity to bring Foothill to full building maturity ($20,000), a deteriorating swimming pool at Amador and the district's share of warehouse rental ($10,000) at Parks.

The proposed increases of the revenue limit would authorize the district's tax rate to go from $2.13 to $2.38 for 1976-77 and from approximately $2.39 to $2.54 in 77-78. Ultimate rate beginning the third year would be about $2.74.

Murray ready if tax nixed

DUBLIN — The Murray School District has joined Amador and Pleasanton in making contingency plans in case a money measure is rejected at the polls by voters.

Last week, both the high school and elementary district boards directed staff to develop plans in case the tax revenue limit increase measures fail to get a majority "yes" vote on June 8.

Murray trustees Monday night voted unanimously to go back to the people with their $1 million bond issue should it fail to get a two-thirds affirmative vote March 2.

However, the board will be able to call back this election order to the county if the bond is passed or should they have a change of heart and elect to try again in November or next year.

Trustees and superintendent Don Williams briefly discussed the impact of Murray going to the June ballot (should the bond fail March 2) in light of tax revenue measures already finalized for that ballot by Amador and Pleasanton.

Amador, which will be seeking a 75-cent tax hike to be carried over three years, and Murray districts overlap.

However, possible disadvantages of money measures on the same ballot were weighed against immediate need and the possibility of waiting until November before the four Murray trustees voted to setup a June "second ballot" contingency.

In a closed personnel session following the meeting, trustees voted to keep Friday, Feb. 13 a regular school day. The board had received requests from the California School Employees Association (CSEA) chapter, Fallon PTA and Lydixsen school staff urging a school holiday for the 13th.

Reports were given by Ellen Nelson, principal at Frederiksen, and Ryan McKeon, principal at Cronin, on evaluation of their Early Childhood Education programs Cronin's is in its first year and Frederiksen its second.

Cronin was rated "very good" in the areas of language development, reading, mathematics, parent participation and health-auxiliary services. The school ECE program received "3's" or "good" ratings in the multi-cultural, staff development and parent education component areas.

The two-woman state team found Cronin's ECE program to have a more positive implementation procedure. Also cited was an elective hour, achievement grouping in mathematics and "evidence of a well-planned and implemented system of recording individual pupil progress."

Cronin's "well-planned and implemented system of storing and utilizing instructional materials" was also praised by the state ECE evaluating team.

City to air general plan

PLEASANTON — Citizens who want to give their next - to - the - last input on what they think should be in the city's general plan will turn out for a public hearing at the planning commission at 8 p.m. today in the Pleasanton Justice Court.

The planning commission will conduct the public hearing on the environmental element of the proposed general plan — the last of nearly a dozen elements to be forwarded to the state which now requires meticulously detailed general plans from all cities.

All mandatory elements of the plan were adopted by the city council late in 1973, but formal adoption was postponed so that an economic analysis and social and environmental elements of the plan could be prepared. The economic analysis was reviewed by the council in May, 1975, and the social elements was approved Dec. 16, 1974.

Review of the environmental element fulfills the federal and state requirements that environmental impact hearings on general plans be conducted before their approval, according to the city staff.

Small delegations from neighborhoods are expected tonight to comment on the desirability of changing the route of one street and reducing the number of multiples in another.

The street in question is the future route of Stoneridge Drive. Instead of running east from Hopyard and curving southward toward the Southern Pacific railroad spur on Santa Rita Road, residents would like the road to curve northward toward the freeway and end in a frontage road, which would carry traffic around to a spot near the Tassajara Road-I-580 interchange.

Leyland misses plan commission on 3-2 vote

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — An attempt to seat Robert C. Leyland on the county planning commission was blocked — at least temporarily yesterday — when the board of supervisors moved to reallocate nominations to the seven member commission.

In a close, 3-2 vote, the board moved to accept supervisor Charles Santana's motion to give two appointments each to three supervisors whose districts include unincorporated areas.

The seventh planning commission post must be shared between north county supervisors Fred Cooper and Tom Bates.

Santana's motion was seconded by valley supervisor John Murphy leaving the key vote to Oakland-Castro Valley representative Joseph Bort. Cooper and Bates voted against the measure.

Bort said after the meeting that he would be open to a compromise on the controversial decision, possibly giving one appointment to each supervisor with two "at large" commissioners nominated on a rotating basis.

Bates tried last week to nominate Robert C. Leyland, his environmental planning consultant, but Murphy asked that the motion be continued to a full hearing on commission appointments.

The board traditionally has given two appointments to its two supervisors representing unincorporated areas. Last year's redistricting, however, added Bort to their numbers.

Bort said he spoke with Santana two months ago and told the Hayward supervisor that he, Bort, wanted the next appointment.

Santana balked, claiming the next appointment was his since he, too, represented unincorporated areas of the county.

Bort tried to get an executive session to discuss policy on commission appointments, but was advised such a move became illegal Jan. 1.

Bates nomination came as a surprise, he said, because he thought the problem over appointments could be worked out before any nominees' names were brought forward.

The board traditionally grants appointments once a nominee's name is made public.

Bates called the maneuver "a blatant attempt to disenfranchise urban residents of the northern part of the county, and to prevent the Planning Commission from having a member committed to sound, environmental planning."

His motion to nominate Leyland failed for lack of a second.

Bort defended his vote in claiming the planning commission is more responsive to local input and concerns. Larger issues are settled at the supervisors' level, he argued.

"Take a look at Thursday's agenda. Most of the planning items involved Castro Valley," he said, adding it would be ridiculous to have people from the cities deciding on the fate of apartment houses in Castro Valley.

The people who live nearest the local problem should make the local decision, he charged. And they still retain the overview of county problems.

Bates claims the appointments will give the county's 450,000 north county residents only one vote on the commission. This, he charged, flies in the face of one-person, one-vote decisions by the U. S. Supreme Court. This motion, he offered, is more akin to "one-acre, one-vote."

He threatened to seek a charter amendment, "and if it comes to it," to "take legal action" to seek one-person, one-vote representation.

Murphy, somewhat in concurrence with Bort, charged the unincorporated areas with taking the brunt of planning commission recommendations. Cities will not be disenfranchised, he argued, because the planning commission is only advisory.

"Unincorporated areas need someone to represent them besides one member (each) of the board of supervisors," he continued. From 1956 through 1961 there was no Fourth District appointment to the planning commission, hence yesterday's move is not precedent setting.

A half dozen citizens spoke out against the motion, each offering a counter proposal.

Bort basically is a "city supervisor," one charged, since the majority of his constituents are in Oakland, Piedmont and Montclair.

Bort's lone appointment, Lois Rusteika, also the panel's only woman, is the only representative from an unincorporated area, another pointed out.

The supervisor said his second nomination, if a compromise is not reached, also may be from there.

By contrast, neither Murphy's nor Santana's appointments are from unincorporated parts of their respective districts.

When the youth refused to empty his pockets, Dabney reached in and pulled out a baggie containing suspected marijuana.

Youth arrested attempting to stab step-father

LIVERMORE — A 17-year-old youth was arrested by police after allegedly attempting twice to stab his step-father at their Livermore home Sunday.

The youth's parents picked him up after he was cited by CHP officers for a minor traffic offense. Later, he heard his parents talking of restricting his driving and an argument ensued. After allegedly threatening to kill his step-father, the youth grabbed a knife from his room and the two wrestled for control of the weapon. The youth lost the knife in the struggle, but then reportedly threw a hunting knife at him.

Police arrested the youth and booked him on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder. He refused officers any verbal statements.

Burglary attempt foiled by residents

LIVERMORE — Burglars carting valuables out of an Enos Street apartment Friday were discovered by the residents who appeared from a neighboring apartment and made citizens arrests on the suspects.

Bill Bruce had just left an apartment across the hall from his and noticed his front door wide open. He saw a man walking from the apartment carrying off valuables, made a citizens arrest and called police.

Two other suspects were arrested, including one hiding behind drapes in Bruce's apartment. Jewelry, cash and a stereo were among the items recovered. Arrested were Allen Lee Hastings, 21, and two other suspects on suspicion of attempted burglary.

Mental Health Council to elect new officers

LIVERMORE — An update of progress toward a crisis intervention service and election of new officers to the Valley Council for Mental Health agenda Thursday, 8 p.m. in the State Savings and Loan Building, 999 East Stanley Ave.

Valley Memorial Hospital Administrator Tom Andrews and Assistant Administrator Larry Freeman will discuss the crisis intervention service program with the council.

Alameda County Valley Mental Health Services area director Kathleen McKeown and staff psychiatrist Dr. Grant Syphers will review the program from their perspective.

Establishment of a 24-hour crisis intervention service at Valley Memorial Hospital has been the primary goal of the Valley Council for Mental Health for more than a year.

In December, Freeman proposed a two-option approach on crisis intervention to the VMH board, but the idea was received coolly. Dr. Don Williams, chairman of the council nominating committee, will present the names of nominees for officers and member-at-large positions.

The council is expected to elect Lillian Snorf chairman, Elva Cooper vice chairman, and Jack Taylor secretary.

Nine members-at-large will also be elected. Representatives of community organizations and interested individuals are invited to attend the council's meetings, held the first Thursday of each month.

Heart fund chairmen announced

Mrs. Howard (Pat) Bess of Oakland has been named Chairman of the 1976 Heart Fund Drive in Alameda County. Mrs. Levon Sherman of Livermore will assist Mrs. Bess as one of the four regional chairmen with her county-wide leadership duties.

The announcement of her appointment was made by Dr. Jess Bromley, president of the Alameda County Heart Association, at a recent meeting of the agency's board of directors. Dr. Bromley noted that this is the second consecutive year in which Mrs. Bess will serve the Heart Fund in this capacity.

As top leader of the February fund appeal, Mrs. Bess will coordinate the efforts of nearly 15,000 community volunteers who will visit their neighbors during Heart Month to ask for contributions to support heart research and other community programs aimed at reducing the death toll from heart and blood vessel diseases in Alameda County.

In accepting the appointment, Mrs. Bess said that the community volunteers will also distribute a special leaflet called "Ticker Talk" which emphasizes the warning signs your heart gives of a heart attack.

According to Mrs. Bess, nearly 700,000 Americans die each year from heart attacks and over 50 percent of these deaths occur before the victims even get to a doctor or a hospital. "We want people to recognize the warning signs of a heart attack and to get to a hospital emergency room at once if they think they're having one," said the Heart Fund Drive leader.

Mrs. Bess has worked with the Heart Fund since 1957 when she began as a community volunteer in her own neighborhood. Since that time, she has served in a variety of roles in the campaign, including chairman of the Heart Fund Drive in Oakland. Mrs. Bess is also a member of the Alameda County Heart Association board of directors and serves on its fund raising advisory committee.

Plant Talk

By SUE JOHNSON Judging by the numerous questions which have come my way, the spider plant, or chlorophytum, is one of the most popular houseplants today. Here are some answers to set you on the right track with this favorite.

Why doesn't my spider plant have "babies?" New plantlets will form on long flowering stalks developing from the center of the spider plant. It is important to remember that plantlets will form only in short-day conditions, that is, under eight hours of light exposure. When exposed to long-day conditions (under eighteen hours) the plant remains vegetative (no plantlets) but is bushier.

How can I tell if my spider plant has enough light?

The center of the leaves on the mother plant will stand up if the spider plant is receiving enough light.

Why do the tips of my spider plant turn brown? Lack of moisture induces black or brown leaf tips. The plant requires moderately moist soil, but not wet, at all times. Over-fertilization, low light, low pH (acid soil) or fluoride salts have the same effect.

The spider plant requires good drainage, and is quite easy to grow if problem areas are dealt with. Addition of lime will make the soil less acid.

How do I propagate the "babies" on my spider plant? To root them all you do is bring the plantlet in contact with damp soil, attach to soil with a hair pin, and wait. When roots develop, the new plant can be severed from the parent.

Prime lands— farms vs. homes

The State Assembly's passage of AB 15 is of interest to this Valley on several counts, not the least of which is a new curb on any further trbrazination of these agricultural acres.

It is preservation of those "prime producing lands" that motivates this latest legislative excursion into what has hitherto been a local responsibility — the zoning of lands to their "highest and best use."

AB 15 suggests that we have may have been derelict in not assigning to farming and ranching that "highest and best use" category which had been reserved largely for more attractive investments — homes, commerce and industry. If such legislation had been in force 15 years ago, it is quite possible that a tract such as Livermore's Granada might not now exist; the 350 acres which today offers some 1500 dwellings in "Pleasanton Valley" would still be producing great crops of tomatoes, beans and walnuts; and the residential expanse we know as San Ramon might not be there at all.

One view of this Valley's development pattern is that "all of the best farm land went to housing, while the hillsides, where nothing can be grown, still stand idle." While the reasoning is not that simple, there can be no question that communities like Pleasanton — and Half Moon Bay and San Leandro and Napa and a great many others — have given up some of California's finest farm lands to the pressure of urbanization.

A countering argument could of course be made for "building homes on flat lands and thus keeping the price within range of the average income bracket." There is the further fact that providing city-type services to large suburban tracts clustered along the faces of those hills and on top of the ridges would have added a considerable burden to the taxpaying home owner.

It boils down to a question of values — the need to preserve prime growing ground versus the demand for homes within reach of the major job markets. Much of this Valley qualifies on both those counts.

For those portions of San Ramon Valley still not subdivided, for the vineyards south of Livermore and the great expanse of agricultural land which surrounds Sunol, the case for "raising crops rather than kids" might still be argued. Now, however, there could be some tough legislative rules to tip the balance in favor of prolonging the life of a farm.

Letters to The Times

Fundamental route

Editor, The Times:

As a member of the Fundamental School Committee, I feel I must comment on the clamor from some segments of the community for the Fundamental School to be a school within a school. I have visited Fundamental Schools operating separately and as part of a school. Evaluation and test scores from several districts indicate that total fundamental schools achieve almost twice as much as the school within a school classes. There are probably many factors entering into this, but I believe the dedication of the staff to the basics in education and the united team effort in the implementation of the philosophy and goals of fundamental education play a great part in making it so successful.

The local Education Council (teachers) listed their number two priority for 1975-76 as the need to set standards of minimal proficiency at all levels (basic skills). According to test scores released by the district recently, our students start out considerably above the national norms through second grade and thereafter steadily decline until they are below the national norms at the tenth grade. It would seem to indicate that the potential is there to do a better job. With the positive results of other districts, a Fundamental School should be given a chance to try and reverse the trend. The approach to education and the programs in our district at the present time do not seem to have prevented the decline in test scores. I would like to think that the administration realizes that there should be changes in our district.

Although many of the editorials have been supportive of fundamental school concepts, articles by their reporters have misrepresented the position of the Fundamental School Committee. By the inclusion of words, they reported their bias instead of the facts. (i.e., "strict" dress code, when in fact the dress code has not been established.)

The recommendation for the Fundamental School has been made by the Superintendent but the final decision rests with the school board. I would hope that the Principal would be able to communicate to the board what he thinks will be a workable plan since he ultimately will be responsible for the implementation.

Act of violence

Editor, The Times:

Sometime Saturday evening or night a person or group of people laid waste to Holmes street between Concannon Blvd. and Alden Lane Under the cover of darkness, to hide their identity, and with a small amount of forethought, an automobile was driven up on the sidewalk at a goodly rate of speed. This action snapped off at bumper height at least twenty Magnolia-grandiflora trees.

I'm sure this person had no personal regard for himself or the property of others. There surely was damage to the vehicle. The greatest damage if to our environment and life standards. It takes fifteen years for a Magnolia tree to mature and produce blossoms. Those trees were just reaching maturity. Now at city expense, new trees must be planted, which will be much smaller than those which were destroyed. At our expense the new trees will be planted and staked to await the next brave sole in their next Midnight Raid.

This is not the first time this "game" has been played in Livermore. A short time ago this act resulted in the destruction of many newly planted trees on Springtown Blvd. I would like to suggest that metal stakes be used next time the trees are replanted. This would at least result in a damaging blow to the underside of the attackers vehicle, if not producing second thought before proceeding. However, this would be a safety factor the rest of Us could not live with should there be an accident.

I guess this is an act of violence we must live with if we are to have nice looking streets. Surely there must be a sane answer to this problem somewhere in Livermore.

Ray Brice

Sound and Fury

Walt Hecox

Everybody knows Richard Milhous Nixon made a mistake or so during his stay at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue.

Those errors have been well publicized. They will live in the pages of history beside the Teapot Dome scandal, the great whiskey scandal of 1875 and Benedict Arnold's betrayal of West Point.

Ordinary history books never bother to tell that, until his defection which he believed to be for the good of the country, Benedict Arnold was by far the most successful general in the war for independence and a national hero of some standing.

Like General Arnold, Richard Nixon did some things right. One of the best things he did during his tenure in the White House was to veto the Child Advocacy Clause of HB 2966 and S626 which is now about to be re-examined by the Congress of these United States.

Nixon vetoed the bill in 1973 when the heat in the kitchen was not to cause him to leave the place, a temperature which was finally attained in 1974.

Vetoing that bill was almost enough to make up for Watergate. Not quite enough, but close. No question about it, Nixon did some good while in office.

Now the same bill is scheduled for congressional debate in February. It is to be hoped that if there are enough idiotic congressmen to let it pass, President Ford will pause on the ski run long enough to put it in his pocket and keep it there.

The bill concerns children's rights. God knows, kids have rights just like the rest of us. But Nixon made a sage observation when he vetoed the bill. "This bill would weaken the American Family by committing the base moral authority of the National Government to the side of Communist approaches to child rearing over and against the family oriented approach of America."

That was Nixon's opinion when he vetoed the measure. Words I might pass off as right wing sour grapes without a closer look. With that inspection it appears the former president was right.

We have laws to protect children from improper parents or those who are not qualified. But as near as I can tell HB2966 would just about outlaw the American family...and I think of that institution in capital letters.

Listen to this description of the bill from the congressional record.

"If, in the judgement of those who are in charge of such a program, the state by way of the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, the parents are not doing a good job, the advocate (a specialist appointed by the government) would enter the home and direct the education, even within the home, De Facto, be transferred to those advocated."

From the Congressional record, page 44138:

Is Superman overtaxed?

FOCUS/Guest editorial Tax vote rapped

The Murray, Pleasanton and Amador school districts, which have had excellent success in passing bond or tax revenue measures over the years, may be in for setbacks in the months to come unless broader based support is engendered.

With barely a month left before their bond ballot date, the leadership in Murray has yet to convince too many — at least not this writer — that the authorization to sell $1 million in bonds is necessary at this time.

There is also concern over just how many residents, not directly tied to schools or school affairs, are willing to become involved in bond committee work or might be at least sympathetic to the issue.

The minutes of the last bond committee meeting show fully half of those in attendance (total of 36) are either Murray administrators, trustees, certificated or classified employee group officers, a guest speaker or newspaper reporters.

Murray's problem may dwell in the fact the bond issue must be passed by a two-thirds vote.

But Amador's situation has already been clouded by its governing body, which directed staff at the time of the tax vote decision to prepare a contingency plan in the event the measure is defeated.

—Not a very positive position for a district that supposedly direly needs the additional tax revenues.

However, the guest editorial appearing below comes at the tax revenue measure in still another direction. Written by George Nicholson of Dublin, the opinions expressed are Nicholson's own and do not necessarily constitute those of The Times.

"Apparently Dr. Bruce Newlin, superintendent of the Amador Valley High School District, has forgotten the lessons taught by The Great School Bus Hassle of 1975.

"Several months have passed since parents persuaded the school board to reverse Dr. Newlin's precipitous decision to eliminate school bus service for the children of Silvergate in Dublin and other Amador Valley areas.

"During two weeks of raging controversy last fall, Dr. Newlin progressively and hastily reduced cost estimates to restore bus cuts from $60,000 to $30,000 to $18,000, before finally, on September 16, he admitted to the school board the true cost would be less than $4,000. After that admission, the board voted to restore bus service. Dr. Newlin's actions exhibited a lack of candor, fiscal ignorance, or both.

"Uncertainty surrounding the management of taxpayers' money by the school district has continued unabated. Support for this statement is drawn from Dr. Newlin's recent revelation that he has again "blown it" by grossly underestimating school district income for 1976-77 by $385,000.

"Fiscal problems for the school district can, in part, be accounted for by lack of a narrative budget and the careful screening practices such a budget requires. A narrative serves to explain the hundreds of pages of numbers contained in a document, which in this case, deals with more than $8 million. Such a narrative promotes fiscal responsibility by clearly stating where and to whom taxpayers' money is allocated, and the manner and time within which such funds are to be spent.

"Neither Dr. Newlin's management practices, nor the school district's fiscal integrity are enhanced by irresponsible inflation of school bus cost estimates last fall, or the even more irresponsible omission of $385,000 from income estimates last week.

"One school board member, Wallace Decker, has recognized this and expressed a lack of confidence in Dr. Newlin's budget figures. Board member Decker's skepticism is well placed and should be shared by every taxpayer in this valley.

"Several steps are available to improve the school district's fiscal affairs and to restore public confidence. One such step would be to obtain an independent audit of both the current year's budget and the proposed budget for next year.

"Another step would be to implement a narrative budget procedure. If such is not already underway, a third step would involve contemplation of a new management team for the district. Finally, any consideration of a tax increase should be delayed until these steps are taken and fiscal integrity is clearly assured.

"Both the Amador Valley High School District and the Pleasanton Joint School District are going to seek tax hikes this year. When these proposed tax increases are added together, the result is shocking. Even assuming no increase in assessed value by the county tax assessor, which assumption is unrealistic, eventual net cost of these two tax increases will be almost $200 annually for each affected Pleasanton family residing in a home now worth $48,000.

"For each Dublin family residing in a home now worth $48,000, the eventual net cost of the proposed increase by the Amador High School District will be almost $100 annually. This assumes the Murray School District seeks no tax increase during the next three years, which assumption is also unrealistic.

"It is unreasonable to ask taxpayers to authorize an increase in already outlandish property taxes under present circumstances."

That is the extent of Nicholson's remarks.

—by AL FISCHER

"All children have the right of protection from and compensation for the inadequacies in their homes and backgrounds."

"Children have the right to protection from any excessive claims made on them by their parents or authority." (The question was asked by way of example: "What do you mean by the fact excessive Claim?" The example was given. "If a mother or father asked the child to take the garbage out and the child doesn't want to, the parents have no right to insist upon it.") The bill also maintains parents could not insist on children attending Sunday school or synagogue and states: "The intent of this bill is for the government to be responsible, for the nutritional interest of your child and for all psychological interest of your child."

"What at issue is whether the parents shall continue to have the right to mold the character of the children, or whether the State, with all its power and magnitude, shall be given the decisive tools and techniques for forming the young lives of the children of this country."

"As a matter of the child's right, the government shall exert control over the family because we have recognized that the child is not the care of the parents, but the care of the state. We recognize further, that not parental but Communist forms of upbringing have an unquestionable superiority over all other forms. Furthermore, there is a serious question that maybe we cannot trust the family to prepare young children in this country for this new kind of world which is emerging."

Move over Gunner Cade. The kids are coming. And thank you Richard Nixon. Big Brother did not arrive in 1973. With a little help next month he might not arrive until 1984 after all.

Round the town

I can remember waiting with a terrible anxiety for the season's first freeze. That time between summer's final roster of games and the start of winter's promised schedule is a wasted period, in the view of a youngster growing up on the Canadian prairies.

For the older men, autumn was a time for hunting. For us kids, autumn was a bummer. More so because skating and hockey were the year's great attractions. Waiting for the rink to freeze could be an ordeal of inordinate duration.

"Think cold," my brother would advise me. And I would gather all of my mental processes into one great orgy of ice and snow and all things below 32 degrees Fahrenheit. And it always worked, of course, given the passage of time and the inevitability of the Canadian winter. But I thought my brother a prophet without equal.

All of which came to mind as I was buffeted by yet another of those good people who ask — "Is it EVER going to rain?"

To which my answer is — "Think storm!"

And it will work I have the evidence of a winter spent on the Atlantic, serving aboard His Majesty's Canadian Ship Arrowhead. Two days out from Halifax, and life was looking very pleasant indeed, for this prairie boy now on the high seas.

"I think there's a bit of a storm brewing," the chief bo'son's mate announced with indifference. In just a very few minutes the blue skies turned an awful black-grey color. The winds swirled from east by nor'east by nor'west in a pattern that had no logic, and no success.

The ocean that had been a blanket of ripples reaching to the horizon, was little more than one frightening wall of water, towering above our poor ship like the whale about to devour Jonah.

And from somewhere above or beyond that wall of water, there came the most terrible sound that prairie ears had ever heard, or ever hoped to hear.

"Here she comes," the mate said, casually.

And come it did. Sheets of rain. Walls of rain. Mountains of rain that seemed certain to swamp us. A torrent of water that made breathing difficult, and motion foolhardy. And just when I was certain we were finished, the rain finished instead.

"Make the rounds to see if all hands are still on board," the chief announced. And life went on as before.

Three years of service on the seas did nothing to convince me that a bo'son's mate could not think up a storm, whenever the spirit moved him.

That same power was held by a neighbor of my Saskatchewan era. "Old Man Young" could stick his great Scot's nose into the dry summer air, sniff a little this way and that, and then pronounce — "I think we're in for a bit of a blow."

Before that day was ended, the blue skies would turn to cloudy grey, the wind would moan, and the heavens would CRACK with great forks of flame that seemed to render us from one horizon to the next, leaving no man nor beast unmoved by that awful display.

The fact that such prairie shows were more pomp than precipitation was an accident of geography. Summer storms weren't supposed to produce rain; just scare the b'jabbars out of us kids.

Which brings us down to this latitude, and the great drought of 1976. Will it ever rain? The doubter is advised to look back to the winter of '55.

It had been a routine December. California style. Not much rain, but not much reason to worry about it, yet.

"I think we might be in for some rainfall," a neighbor on Walnut Drive reported, wisely. And sure enough, soon the clouds opened up, and the moisture began to fall. And fall And fall.

In minutes the dry earth turned to mud. In hours the gutters were spilling their overflow onto the streets. Toward midnight the self-serving neighbor was pounding on my door.

"I think you'll want to see this," he advised, "the Arroyo del Valle is just about full to the brim. I think it's going to flood Main Street."

I will not dwell on that great storm of 1955, except to advise you drought doomsdayers that California can, in a matter of seconds, turn parched earth to rivers, fill great canyons to the brim, and leave much of this Valley floor as one gigantic pond, impassable as it was improbable.

They said it was "a storm that comes once every hundred years." Three years later we had another, just as bad.

So do not despair. Simply find a neighbor or a bo'son's mate who is able to tilt his head to the heavens, and declare in that thoughtful nonchalance — "I think we're in for a little rain."

astrograph by Bernice Bede Orl

For Wednesday, Feb. 4, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You may have some problems today getting others to cooperate. Don't be as unyielding as they are or nothing will get done.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It's nice to be helpful, but be careful who you volunteer to aid today. You may hit someone who's waiting to unload all their burdens.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21) This is definitely not the day to buck the majority. Being the lone dissenter will probably leave you stranded.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Play down your role in joint endeavors today. Blowing your own horn too loudly will only turn associates against you.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22) It would be a mistake to challenge one whose view conflicts with yours today. The sympathy is likely to be with your opponent.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you're operating in a strange commercial arena today, be sure the deal is clear to you, so you'll have recourse if you're hoodwinked.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Matters having a far-reaching effect on the household or family must be thoroughly understood by you and your mate today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A person who has neglected to thank you for past favors will knock on your door again today. Don't look for a different ending.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Normally, Lady Luck smiles upon you. Today, you could venture where you know the odds are against you — and lose your shirt.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Timing is all-important today. It would be foolish to make concessions and upset your well played intentions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Just because the person who presents a plan to you is strong-willed and forceful doesn't mean he's right. Use your own judgment.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your generous nature can be a detriment today if you find you'll be giving more than you can afford. Don't overextend yourself.

your birthday
Feb. 4, 1976

You're going to be more footloose and fancy-free this coming year than you have been for some time. Savor something now for those frequent short trips.

Bridge teacher, Sally Johnson of Westport, looked over the dummy happily. Not only had she reached a good slam, but the play she intended to adopt would be fine for teaching her advanced pupils. She could try for seven. That would require a 3-3 club break and a 3-1 or 2-2 trump split. She hadn't bid seven so she discarded that line. Then there was the simple line. Try to ruff two hearts. She would ruff one low and the last one high and be home safely against all 4-3 and some 5-2 heart breaks. Then she found the best and winning line. She won the first diamond, cashed the king and ace of hearts, led a third heart and carefully discarded dummy's second diamond. This loser-on-loser play enabled her to ruff her last diamond with one of dummy's low trumps and her last heart with dummy's ace of trumps and make her contract. Of course, it would have failed if diamonds broke 8-1 but 8-1 breaks are most unlikely while 5-2 breaks occur some 30 per cent of the time.

Ask the Jacobys

A Massachusetts reader wants to know if there is or ever was a rule that allows a player with no ace-king-queen-jack or 10 to demand a new deal. The answer is a decided no. When you play rubber bridge and pick up a bad hand you are stuck with it. (Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Ensigns take under-8 title

The Ensigns rode three Scott Wardrope goals to a 4-0 victory over the Eagles last weekend and the under-8, division I title in the Pleasanton City Soccer Championships.

Dave Cure scored a goal and assisted one in gaining the title for the Ensigns. Dave Ghidossi led a strong defense for the winners.

For the Eagles, Chris Stavros scored.

In the C division, the Barons nudged the Chargers in overtime, 1-0. Brandon Oswald scored from Joe Mellon's assist in the second extra period of the match. Geza Privari and Scott Hart provided strong defense for the winners. Randy Pollard and John Gurtin also played well. Tiger Alberts, Jason Welborn and Bret Redeker sparked the losing Chargers.

In the D division, the Falcons tripped the Flames, 1-0, on Michael Guest's goal. Michael Sapeta assisted. Joe Madden preserved the shutout with five saves in goal. Michael Gessini, John Vandagriff and Kirk Nego headed up the fine Falcon defense. The Flames' Paul Hoehne recorded six saves in goal.

In the under-10 championship the Gators nudged the Huskies, 1-0. Brian Walker scored on Tim Rubin's assist. Leading the defense were Don Buti, Chris Cotton, Randy Vanek and Dan McPherson. Dave Griffith of the Huskies had six saves.

Andy Pearson scored two goals as the D division Jaguars blanked the Marlins, 3-0. Daryl Sequiera had the other score. Eric Voelhm, Mike Partridge, Jeff DeBernardi, Kevin Triance, Glenn Karney and John Coder sparked the tough Jaguar defense. Jeff Page, Jurgen Plitt and Scott Long played well for the Marlins.

In the under-12 division I championship, the Phantoms topped the Pirates, 5-4, in a penalty overtime kickoff. Steve Gray, Scott Pruneau and Bobby Edwards had penalty goals. Pruneau and Steve Devine scored regulation goals. Edwards played in goal for the winners and had six saves. Jeff Arnott, Eric Kunz, Bryan Newman, John Dueterhaus, Mark Rathjan and Mike Davis played strong defense. For the Pirates, Tom Hansen and Jeff Pappas scored penalty goals. Pappas and Ricky Gabler had overtime goals. Craig Schoendist had five saves.

Andy Wigen and Jeff Mendonca led a tough Ranger defense which shut out the Sharks in division C, 6-0. Sean Mills had four saves. Marcus Melander scored the first two goals. Tony Muljat, Randy Gibson, Vance Branchini and Ed Duarte also scored for the winners. Tom Seed played well in goal for the losers.

Solid goaltending by Shawn Cassidy and Ken Farro helped the Tigers to a 4-0 under-14 championship win over the Trojans. Farro had four saves, and Cassidy, six. Farro also had the second Tiger goal. Steve Farro scored twice for the winners, and Dale Perry headed in one goal. Craig Hirst, Darryl Smith, Kevin Jones and Bob Lambert anchored the defense. David Birks, Barry Baker and David Marshall played well. For the Trojans, Richard Holms and Chris Lopez were standout players.

Dublin High showed why it has been the highest scoring team in the EBAL soccer race this year with a resounding 9-0 victory over visiting California yesterday in the season-ending match for both squads.

The issue, in somewhat of an understatement, was never in doubt. Dublin scored less than a minute after the match began when Mike Laudensch took a pass from Matt Bryant and banged one in from 10 yards out. The Gaels went on to score four more times in the first half and four in the second period.

Bryant made the first of his three goals three minutes later when he broke loose from 40 yards out and banged in a 15-yarder.

Bryant was not through for the half, however. The wiry athlete scored his second goal with eight minutes left in the half from five yards out on an assist from Bob Klein. Moments later the Gaels regained possession at midfield and Bryant again scored on an assist from David Molz.

Molz got in the act two minutes later when he belted one straight on to conclude the Gaels first-half scoring.

Gael mentor Gene Cassavan let his second and third-stringers play most of the second half but not before Laudensch added his second goal. The ball slipped through the outstretched hands of California goalie Roger Hurlow. Laudensch added his third goal two minutes later on an assist from Jeff Mulsow. Mulsow scored his only goal three minutes later on a free kick from 30 yards out.

The Gaels concluded, the scoring on a line-drive by Doug Kohl with eight minutes left in the contest. The statistics show how much the Gaels dominated the contest. Dublin had 30 shots on goal to two for California. The Gaels had two corner kicks while the Grizzlies had none. Despite the loss, California mentor John Rego said he was fairly satisfied with the season.

"We improved the scores in the second half of the season against every school in the league except for Dublin," he said. "We were playing without Mike Daugherty, our first-string goalie and that didn't help us."

Rego was optimistic about next season.

"All of our starters are back," he said. "They are all juniors except for one freshman." Cassavan was pleased with the Dublin win but admitted it wasn't the Gaels' best effort of the year.

"We played well," he said. "However, the young California club needs a lot of experience."

Dublin finished the season with a 10-3-1 mark while California was 2-10-2.

Granada pops

"And I love her..." sing Granada High choir members practicing the Beatles hit in preparation for their Sixth Annual Pops Concert. The public performance will be Thursday (Feb. 5), 7:30 p.m. in the Granada High multi-purpose room (400 Wall St.). Performing will be the Jazz Vocal Ensemble, A Cappella Choir, and several soloists, with a guest appearance by Robert Solorio. Refreshments will be served and admission is $1 at the door. The concert is one of many fund-raisers to send GHS choir members to Mexico this Easter. (Times photo)

Nuclear initiative

Bill now is Proposition 15

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Nuclear Initiative now has a number — Prop. 15 on the June 8 presidential primary ballot.

Legalization of church bingo games will be Prop. 9, and California voters also face $1 billion in bond proposals in four other ballot measures — Props. 1 through 4.

Secretary of State March Fong Eu assigned numbers today to all ballot measures for the June 8 ballot using a formula which regularly gives the most controversial measures the highest numbers.

Bond issues are listed first, followed by constitutional amendments placed on the ballot by two-thirds votes of the Senate and Assembly and then by measures qualified by initiative petitions of voters.

There will be 15 measures on the June 8 ballot. The controversial nuclear power plant siting measure is the only one qualifying by initiative petitions, and therefore was assigned the last number.

Other major items are: —Prop. 1: A $200 million CalVet bonds measure.

—Prop. 2: A $500 million CalVet bonds measure.

—Prop. 3: A $175 million water quality bond issue.

—Prop. 4: A $150 million community colleges bond measure.

—Prop. 5: A constitutional amendment to allow the legislature to change tax rates with a simple majority vote of each house of the legislature, rather than the current two-thirds majority.

—Prop. 9: A constitutional amendment allowing cities and counties to legalize bingo games by charitable organizations.

Remedios achieves Provost's honors

Peter Remedios of Dublin has achieved the Provost's Honors List at the University of California, San Diego.

Inclusion on the list requires that a student take at least 12 units in a quarter, and attain a grade point average of 3.5 or higher.

This accomplishment attests not only to the student's abilities, but to the excellence of their pre-UCSD education as well.

The honors list at UC San Diego is prepared quarterly.

Foreign students need area hosts

Host families are still needed to accommodate Japanese students who will be visiting in the Livermore-Amador Valley Feb. 29 to March 23.

The students, ages 20 to 23, will be enrolled in regular classes at Dublin High School. They will also be taken on local excursions in the Bay Area.

Homestay, an international educational experience, sponsors the visit of the students. Any individuals or families interested in experiencing a foreign culture in their home and in obtaining more information, should contact the teacher coordinator, Barbara Heimowitz, at 828-6410, ext. 29, between 9 and 10 a.m. and 2 and 3 p.m., or call 537-2066 in the evenings.

Water shortage to hit public campground

Lack of rain is going to have a major impact on camping and park use in the coming season.

Officials at Mt. Diablo State Park are shutting off the water in picnic and campgrounds. The only place water will be available will be at the summit for flush toilets and drinking. Horse troughs will be left empty and there will be no water for Boy Scout groups either.

The water rationing is in effect until further notice. Park employees will not be allowed to water their lawns and gardens.

"We're running out of water," said Edward Earl, Mt. Diablo Park area manager.

"Our fire hazard is critical and our water storage is very low."

Meanwhile, in East Bay Regional Parks such as Shadow Cliffs in Pleasanton, Sunol Regional Wilderness, and Del Valle in Livermore, no water rationing is expected because most parks are on wells or city water.

However, park officials fear a summer of brush fires.

EBRPD fire chief C. Richard Aronson is urging park visitors to be extra careful. He said all 19 pieces of firefighting equipment in the far-flung two-county district are being kept in top condition and ready to roll although ordinarily in the firefighting off-season maintenance work is pursued at a more leisurely pace.

"Anything below 10 on a zero-to-50 fuel moisture scale is critical," Aronson reports. "And we are getting readings now of six to 10. At this time of year, they should be in the 30 range."

He continued, "Grass fires will probably not be a problem this year because the grass isn't growing. But the brush, which is usually lush and green, is dry now and will get drier. Unless we get rain, by mid-June the brush will be in the condition it usually doesn't reach until September."

The State Forestry Department has already declared the summer fire season open.

According to EBRPD's chief naturalist, Chris Nelson, the Coyote Hills marshes which depend on rain may have to be filled with well water — an expensive method of saving the marshes. Many ponds for wildlife are drying up, Nelson reports.

Meanwhile, the price of livestock feed is on the rise. Contra Costa County's horse population is fourth largest in the nation.

Arthur Seeley, county agricultural commissioner, warns horse owners that some customers are being shortchanged on alfalfa, which is now selling for $7.25 a bale.

Seeley said less rain has been falling this winter than has fallen during comparable periods in the entire 74 years Contra Costa County has been keeping records. Central Contra Costa County received just over half an inch of rain in December and January, when it normally would have absorbed eight inches, he reported.

May opening for Bart Station

OAKLAND (AP) — The Bay Area Rapid Transit's long awaited Embarcadero subway station in San Francisco may be opened sometime in May, a BART spokesman says.

The $25 million underground station, one of BART's 34 stations in three counties, has not had its fare collection system installed. Construction may be completed about three months after installation begins.

The Embarcadero station, planned after all of the other BART stations, will serve areas near the eastern end of Market Street and includes a subway level for the new Municipal Railway, which is expected to begin underground operation sometime next year.
